ISS RECOMMENDS PCS SHAREHOLDERS

VOTE AGAINST METROPCS/T-MOBILE TRANSACTION

- PSAM and ISS agree that PCS shareholders will receive superior value through an independent, stand-alone structure

NEW YORK, March 28, 2013/PRNewswire/ - P. Schoenfeld Asset Management LP (PSAM) said today it is very pleased that Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS), the leading provider of corporate governance services to institutional shareholders, has recommended PCS shareholders vote AGAINST the proposed transaction between PCS and T-Mobile USA, Inc. (the Proposed Transaction) using the WHITE proxy card. PSAM and its investment advisory clients together own shares of MetroPCS Communications, Inc. (PCS or the Company) valued at approximately $100 million at current prices, or approximately 2.5%.

PSAM responded to the ISS report saying, "We are extremely pleased that ISS recognizes the Proposed Transaction between MetroPCS and T-Mobile (the Combined Company) is not in the best interests of PCS shareholders and that the merger would place undue risk on PCS shareholders and not provide them the proper value they deserve. Our only agenda has been and will continue to be to urge our fellow shareholders to reject an unfair transaction and focus on shareholder value."

As stated by ISS in its report, "Absent merging with T-Mobile, PCS will have enough cash on its balance sheet to dedicate to new spectrum and could continue operating as a stand-alone company. It may well, as many commentators have suggested, have additional M&A opportunities in the offing, given its attractive assets."

"We concur with the ISS report that potential strategic alternatives available to the Company, such as PCS remaining a standalone company, would be the best outcome for PCS and its shareholders, while remaining open to alliances and relationships that would maximize shareholder value," said PSAM.

ISS concluded its report by stating, "In light of the negative market response to this transaction (shares are down 14.4% since announcement), the lower equity split than justified by the contribution of PCS to the combined entity, and the potential for PCS to continue to thrive as a stand-alone company, shareholders should vote AGAINST this transaction."

ISS raised the following additional concerns regarding the Proposed Transaction in its independent report to PCS shareholders:

- Ongoing PCS insider share sales are troubling;
 - Transaction terms require PCS shareholders to give up control and balance sheet flexibility to Deutsche Telekom, under whose control T-Mobile has vastly underperformed;

- Realization of transaction cost synergies is highly uncertain due to the extensive time period required;
- PCS management's lack of transparency regarding details of the transaction are concerning;
- The $1.5 billion deduction for the purchase of spectrum is not a loss in value, as PCS's adjustments assume;
- The interest rate on the Deutsche Telekom (DT) notes is too high and will reduce the Combined Company's free cash flow;
- The Proposed Transaction negotiations consistently slanted in DT's favor and were not revised in PCS's favor after the Company reported a strong Q2 2012; and
- The Combined Company will find it challenging to meet the financial targets presented by PCS management.

PSAM today reiterated its proposal, previously communicated to the PCS Board by letter on March 22, 2013, that the Company delay the Annual Meeting until late June 2013 and provide a two-week period following the Special Meeting in which PCS shareholders can put forth proposals and director nominations.
