Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

On December 13, 2018, Agile Therapeutics, Inc. (the Company) issued a press release announcing that, on December 11, 2018, it had met with the Division of Bone, Reproductive and Urological Products, or DBRUP, to discuss the design and success criteria of the comparative wear study between Twirla® and Xulane® suggested by the FDA's Office of New Drugs, or OND in its decision on the Company's formal dispute resolution request, which was announced in October 2018. The Company expects to conduct a crossover wear study in healthy women with a Body Mass Index (BMI) less than 35 kg/m<sup>2</sup> who will be randomized to either Twirla or Xulane for the first week and then switched to the patch not initially worn for the second week. The Company plans to discuss the results of the meeting and the design of the study in more detail after it receives the final meeting minutes from the FDA in January. The Company announced that its current plan is to complete the study in the first quarter of 2019, and to resubmit the Twirla new drug application in the first half of 2019, which, if the Company is successful, provides it the opportunity to receive approval by the end of 2019.

A copy of the Company's press release is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1.
