The results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2002 are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations for the full year or any other interim period. The information included in this Form 10-QSB should be read in conjunction with Management's Discussion and Analysis and Financial Statements and notes thereto included in the Company's December 31, 2001 Form 10-KSB.

Item 2: MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS.

Results of Operations

The Registrant is engaged in the sale of computers and computer peripheral products over the internet. We have pursued combining computer consulting and sales as a way to increase our margins and visibility among small businesses as well as target marketing small businesses through some direct marketing and email. We expected this would cause small businesses to think of us first in the future when they were to buy computers and/or computer peripheral equipment. Those expectations did not show to be true as our efforts indicate that customers are driven more by price than what they get and we feel that our competitors who were positioned in the market with better names and better prices, have taken customers who otherwise might be turned to us. We face a hard road to turn our sales effort around to be profitable.

Liquidity

The Registrant has liquid assets of $2,277 and total current assets of $15,370. This amount includes the funds raised in the SB-1 registration offering which was filed with the U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission in 2001 in which we raised a net amount after offering expenses of $84,837. Almost all of this money was spent on advertising to promote our company and its website and services. However, given the market conditions and the competitiveness of the computer sales industry, price competition caused us not to have much success.

Capital Resources

The Registrant's capital resources have been generated from the sale of products through its web site and has capital resources remaining from the sale of stock under its registration statement.

There are no plans or requirements for purchase of capital items during the quarter for company purposes. The Registrant does not foresee any material capital purchase in the coming twelve months.
