- $2.8 million of losses on commercial mortgage whole loans.

Segment Highlights

Retirement and Investor Services

Segment operating earnings for first quarter 2012 were $143.6 million, compared to $154.1 million for the same period in 2011. Full Service Accumulation earnings decreased 4 percent from the year ago quarter to $69.6 million, reflecting lower net investment income and fee revenue. Principal Funds earnings decreased 3 percent from a year ago to $11.6 million primarily due to higher compensation and sales-related expenses. Individual Annuities earnings were $33.0 million compared to $35.9 million for first quarter 2011, which reflects lower investment income and a higher tax rate. Bank and Trust Services earnings decreased to $6 million, primarily due to a legal settlement in the current quarter. The guaranteed businesses, which consist of Investment Only and Full Service Payout, earned $23.4

million in the first quarter 2012 compared to $25.3 million in the first quarter of 2011. The difference was primarily due to lower variable investment income and a decline in average account values.

Operating revenues for the first quarter 2012 were $1,055.1 million compared to $1,017.9 million for the same period in 2011 primarily due to higher premiums and fees, which were partially offset by lower net investment income.

Segment assets under management were a record $194.0 billion as of March 31, 2012, compared to $181.5 billion as of March 31, 2011.

[3] Excess capital includes cash at the holding company and capital at the life company above that needed to maintain a 350 percent NAIC risk based capital ratio for the life company.

Principal Global Investors

Segment operating earnings for first quarter 2012 were $16.2 million, compared to $16.6 million in the prior year quarter, reflecting higher compensation costs as we increase distribution and investment staff to support growth.

Operating revenues for first quarter were $138.1 million, compared to $125.3 million for the same period in 2011, reflecting higher management fees due to growth in assets under management and higher borrower transaction fees.

Unaffiliated assets under management were a record $90.7 billion as of March 31, 2012, compared to $78.0 billion as of March 31, 2011.

Principal International

Segment operating earnings were $41.8 million in first quarter 2012, compared to $27.8 million in the prior year quarter. The improvement was primarily due to an increase in assets under management. A $5 million negative impact to earnings from regulatory changes in Mexican AFORE assigned lives was partially offset by delayed expenses in our Latin American operations.

Operating revenues were $262.5 million for first quarter 2012, compared to $206.1 million for the same period last year, primarily due to 22 percent growth in assets under management.

Segment assets under management were a record $59.2 billion as of March 31, 2012, up $10.7 billion over $48.5 billion as of March 31, 2011.

U.S. Insurance Solutions

Segment operating earnings for first quarter 2012 were $50.2 million, compared to $53.4 million for the same period in 2011. Individual Life earnings were $31.7 million in the first quarter compared to $30.9 million in first quarter 2011. Operating earnings in first quarter 2012 benefitted by $3 million from a prescribed accounting practice change in the amortization basis for certain individual life policies. Specialty Benefits earnings were $18.5 million in first quarter 2012, down from $22.5 million in the same period a year ago primarily due to stronger than normal net investment income in first quarter 2011.

Segment operating revenues for first quarter 2012 were $697.0 million compared to $732.0 million for the same period a year ago as fees and other revenue were negatively impacted from the change in the amortization basis.

Corporate

Operating losses for first quarter 2012 were $38.8 million compared to operating losses of $32.1 million in first quarter 2011. Current quarter results reflect higher tax and legal expenses.

Accounting Changes

New accounting guidance, which modifies the definition of types of costs incurred by insurance entities that can be capitalized in the successful acquisition of new or renewal insurance contracts, became effective on January 1, 2012. We retrospectively applied this accounting guidance.

In addition, we voluntarily changed our method of accounting for the cost of reinsurance within our Individual Life division. One impact of this voluntary accounting change is that any difference between actual and expected reinsurance cash flows is recognized in earnings immediately instead of being deferred and amortized over the life of the underlying policies. We adopted the new method because we believe that it better reflects the economics of our reinsurance transactions by accounting for direct claims and related reinsurance recoveries in the same period. In addition, the new method is consistent with management's intent in purchasing reinsurance to protect the Company against large and unexpected claims.

Comparative amounts from prior periods have been adjusted to apply the new deferred policy acquisition cost guidance and the voluntary reinsurance accounting change retrospectively. Historical periods reflecting these changes are disclosed on our Investor Relations website.

Forward looking and cautionary statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, statements as to operating earnings, net income available to common stockholders, net cash flows, realized and unrealized gains and losses, capital and liquidity positions, sales and earnings trends, and management's beliefs, expectations, goals and opinions. The company does not undertake to update these statements, which are based on a number of assumptions concerning future conditions that may ultimately prove to be inaccurate. Future events and their effects on the company may not be those anticipated, and actual results may differ materially from the results anticipated in these forward-looking statements. The risks, uncertainties and factors that could cause or contribute to such material differences are discussed in the company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended Dec. 31, 2011, filed by the company with the Securities and Exchange Commission, as updated or supplemented from time to time in subsequent filings. These risks and uncertainties include, without limitation: adverse capital and credit market conditions may significantly affect the company's ability to meet liquidity needs, access to capital and cost of capital; continued difficult conditions in the global capital markets and the economy generally; continued volatility or further declines in the equity markets; changes in interest rates or credit spreads; the company's investment portfolio is subject to several risks that may diminish the value of its invested assets and the investment returns credited to customers; the company's valuation of securities may include methodologies, estimations and assumptions that are subject to differing interpretations; the determination of the amount of allowances and impairments taken on the company's investments requires estimations and assumptions that are subject to differing interpretations; gross unrealized losses may be realized or result in future impairments; competition from companies that may have greater financial resources, broader arrays of products, higher ratings and stronger financial performance; a downgrade in the company's financial strength or credit ratings; inability to attract and retain sales representatives and develop new distribution sources; international business risks; the company's actual experience could differ significantly from its pricing and reserving assumptions; the company's ability to pay stockholder dividends and meet its obligations may be constrained by the limitations on dividends or distributions Iowa insurance laws impose on Principal Life; the pattern of amortizing the company's DPAC and other actuarial balances on its universal life-type insurance contracts, participating life insurance policies and certain investment contracts may change; the company may need to fund deficiencies in its "Closed Block" assets that support participating ordinary life insurance policies that had a dividend scale in force at the time of Principal Life's 1998 conversion into a stock life insurance company; the company's reinsurers could default on their obligations or increase their rates; risks arising from acquisitions of businesses; changes in laws, regulations or accounting standards; a computer system failure or security breach could disrupt the company's business, and damage its reputation; results of litigation and regulatory investigations; from time to time the company may become subject to tax audits, tax litigation or similar proceedings, and as a result it may owe additional taxes, interest and penalties in amounts that may be material; fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates; and applicable laws and the company's stockholder rights plan, certificate of incorporation and by-laws may discourage takeovers and business combinations that some stockholders might consider in their best interests.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The company uses a number of non-GAAP financial measures that management believes are useful to investors because they illustrate the performance of normal, ongoing operations, which is important in understanding and evaluating the company's financial condition and results of operations. They are not, however, a substitute for U.S. GAAP financial measures. Therefore, the company has provided reconciliations of the non-GAAP measures to the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP measure at the end of the release. The company adjusts U.S. GAAP measures for items not directly related to ongoing operations. However, it is possible these adjusting items have occurred in the past and could recur in the future reporting periods. Management also uses non-GAAP measures for goal setting, as a basis for determining employee and senior management awards and compensation, and evaluating performance on a basis comparable to that used by investors and securities analysts.

[6] Operating earnings versus U.S. GAAP (GAAP) net income available to common stockholders

Management uses operating earnings, which excludes the effect of net realized capital gains and losses, as adjusted, and other after-tax adjustments, for goal setting, as a basis for determining employee compensation, and evaluating performance on a basis comparable to that used by investors and securities analysts. Segment operating earnings are determined by adjusting U.S. GAAP net income available to common stockholders for net realized capital gains and losses, as adjusted, and other after-tax adjustments the company believes are not indicative of overall operating trends. Note: it is possible these adjusting items have occurred in the past and could recur in future reporting periods. While these items may be significant components in understanding and assessing our consolidated financial performance, management believes the presentation of segment operating earnings enhances the understanding of results of operations by highlighting earnings attributable to the normal, ongoing operations of the company's businesses.
