Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Merger Agreement

On November 13, 2018, Simmons First National Corporation (the “Company”), an Arkansas corporation and the parent holding company of Simmons Bank, entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “Agreement”) with Reliance Bancshares, Inc. (“Reliance”), a Missouri corporation and the parent company of Reliance Bank, pursuant to which, upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Agreement, Reliance will merge with and into the Company (the “Transaction”), with the Company continuing as the surviving corporation in the Transaction.

Upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Agreement, upon the consummation of the Transaction, (i) holders of Reliance’s common stock and common stock equivalents will receive, in the aggregate, 4,000,000 shares of the Company’s common stock and $62.7 million in cash (the “Aggregate Cash Consideration”) and (ii) each share of Reliance’s series A preferred stock, series B preferred stock and series C preferred stock will be converted into the right to receive one share of the Company’s comparable series A preferred stock, series B preferred stock or series C preferred stock, respectively.

In addition, upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Agreement, if, as of the 10th day prior to the consummation of the Transaction, (i) the average closing price of the Company’s common stock is more than $37.68 and (ii) the change in the average closing price of the Company’s common stock exceeds the change in the Nasdaq Bank Index by more than 20%, then the Aggregate Cash Consideration will be decreased by an amount such that the total value of the merger consideration is not greater than $213,420,000.

The Agreement contains customary representations and warranties and covenants by the Company and Reliance, including, among others, covenants relating to (1) the conduct of each party’s business during the period prior to the consummation of the Transaction, (2) Reliance’s obligations to facilitate Reliance’s shareholders’ consideration of, and voting upon, the Agreement and the Transaction, (3) the recommendation by the Reliance board of directors in favor of approval of the Agreement and the Transaction, (4) Reliance’s obligation to submit the Agreement to its shareholders for approval at a meeting of shareholders held for that purpose, and (5) Reliance’s non-solicitation obligations relating to alternative business combination transactions.

The Transaction is subject to customary closing conditions, including, among others, (1) approval of the Agreement by Reliance’s shareholders, (2) receipt of required regulatory approvals without the imposition of a condition that is materially burdensome on the Company’s business or on the business of Reliance or Reliance Bank, in each case following the consummation of the Transaction, or which would likely reduce the economic benefits of the transactions contemplated by the Agreement to the Company to such a degree that the Company would not have entered into the Agreement had such condition or restriction been known to it at the date of the Agreement (as determined by the Company), (3) the absence of any law or order prohibiting the consummation of the transactions contemplated by the Agreement (including the Transaction), (4) the effectiveness of the registration statement for the Company’s common stock to be issued in the Transaction, (5) approval of the listing on Nasdaq of the Company’s common stock to be issued in the Transaction and (6) receipt by each party of an opinion from the Company’s counsel to the effect that the Transaction, will qualify as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Each party’s obligation to consummate the Transaction is also subject to certain additional customary conditions, including, among others, (a) subject to certain exceptions, the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the other party, and (b) performance in all material respects by the other party of its obligations under the Agreement. The Company’s obligation to consummate the Transaction is also subject to (x) holders of no more than five percent of the outstanding shares of Reliance’s common stock demanding appraisal rights, and (y) Reliance Bank maintaining certain asset quality and capital ratio metrics.

The Agreement contains certain termination rights for both the Company and Reliance and further provides that a termination fee of $10.0 million will be payable by Reliance to the Company upon termination of the Agreement under certain specified circumstances.

The representations, warranties and covenants of each party set forth in the Agreement were made only for purposes of the Agreement and as of specific dates, and were and are solely for the benefit of the parties to the Agreement, may be subject to limitations agreed upon by the parties, including being qualified by confidential disclosures made for the purposes of allocating contractual risk between the parties to the Agreement instead of establishing these matters as facts, and may be subject to standards of materiality applicable to the parties that differ from those applicable to investors. Accordingly, the representations and warranties may not describe the actual state of affairs at the date they were made or at any other time, and investors should not rely on them or any descriptions of them as statements of facts or conditions of the Company, Reliance, or any of their respective subsidiaries or affiliates. Moreover, information concerning the subject matter of the representations, warranties and covenants may change after the date of the Agreement, which subsequent information may or may not be fully reflected in the parties' public disclosures. In addition, such representations and warranties (1) will not survive consummation of the Transaction, unless otherwise specified therein, and (2) were made only as of the date of the Agreement or such other date as is specified in the Agreement. Accordingly, the Agreement is included with this filing only to provide investors with information regarding the terms of the Agreement, and not to provide investors with any other factual information regarding the Company, Reliance, their respective affiliates, or their respective businesses. The Agreement should not be read alone, but should instead be read in conjunction with the other information regarding the Company, Reliance, their respective affiliates or their respective businesses, the Agreement, and the Transaction that will be contained in, or incorporated by reference into, the Registration Statement on Form S-4 that will include a proxy statement of Reliance and a prospectus of the Company, as well as in the Forms 10-K, Forms 10-Q and other filings that the Company makes with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC").

The foregoing description of the Agreement and the transactions contemplated therein does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 2.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K, and incorporated by reference herein.

Voting Agreement

In connection with the Agreement, the Company entered into a Voting Agreement with Reliance, and certain directors and shareholders of Reliance, a form of which is attached to this Current Report as Exhibit 10.1 (the "Voting Agreements"). The Reliance directors that are party to the Voting Agreement beneficially own in the aggregate approximately 54% of the outstanding shares of Reliance's common stock. The Voting Agreements require, among other things, that the director party thereto vote all of his shares of Reliance's common stock in favor of the Transaction and the other transactions contemplated by the Agreement and against alternative transactions.

The foregoing description of the Voting Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the form of Voting Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 10.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K, and incorporated by reference herein.
