LLOYDS BANKING GROUP STATEMENT

Statement from Sir Winfried Bischoff, Chairman, Lloyds Banking Group:

Following press comment over the weekend on remuneration in the banking sector, I am making this statement on behalf of the Board of Lloyds Banking Group plc.

2009 was a challenging year for the UK economy, our Group and many of our customers. Under the strong and focused leadership of our Chief Executive Eric Daniels, we shaped the business for future growth. We built firm foundations through capital raisings, rightsizing our balance sheet and delivering our integration programme.

We have 30 million customers and can therefore understand the financial hardships that many households and businesses are experiencing across the UK arising from the decline in the economy last year. We are playing our part in the UK's economic recovery by helping our customers through these difficulties and by extending a significant amount of new lending to businesses and households.

We are, of course, mindful of the ongoing public debate on the issue of bonuses in the banking sector. We believe that it is appropriate that our colleagues receive appropriate financial recognition when our stretching performance targets, which include both financial and non financial measures, are met. In our case, as a retail and commercial bank, our overall allocation under the annual bonus schemes represents a very small percentage of revenues.

We believe that due to the strong platform built in the past year we are well positioned to deliver value for shareholders, including the taxpayer, both in the near and medium term. Against this backdrop, our Board has reviewed the recommendations of our Remuneration Committee chaired by Wolfgang Berndt. In its recommendation, the Committee carefully considered the principles of the annual bonus scheme, which include sustainability, a prudent approach to risk, and progress on profitability and integration.

The Committee decided that Eric Daniels, the Group Chief Executive, merits the full payout under the company's annual bonus scheme because of his significant individual contribution, and the Group's overall performance, in 2009. The Board endorsed this recommendation.

Mr Daniels has informed the Board, however, that he wishes to waive his bonus, the second consecutive year that he has done so. Mr Daniels has taken this action because he believes that the excellent progress the Group is making, based on the considerable contribution of many colleagues across the company, is in danger of being obscured by the current debate on executive bonus awards in the banking sector. The Board has accepted Mr Daniels' decision and greatly appreciates the leadership shown by his action.

Appropriate 2009 bonus scheme awards will be made to executive directors other than Mr Daniels on the basis of their individual contribution and the Group's overall performance. These awards will be paid in shares and completely deferred until 2012 and are subject to clawback. Elsewhere across the Group, annual bonus awards will be paid, where appropriate, in shares and subject to deferral and clawback in line with the G20 principles and as already agreed with the FSA and UKFI.

As previously announced, our preliminary results will be released on Friday, 26 February 2010.

Sir Winfried Bischoff

Chairman
