BIRKS LEVERAGES STRONG DOLLAR TO REDUCE PRICES

ON SELECTED FINE JEWELLERY AND PRESTIGE WATCH BRANDS

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SEVERAL DECADES

MONTREAL, QC. (November 27, 2007) As one of North America's leading luxury retailers, Birks & Mayors Inc. responded to the challenge of competing in the North American marketplace with a stronger Canadian dollar by reducing its prices on selected merchandise at all Birks locations in Canada effective today. It is the first time in recent history that Birks has taken such an initiative.

Thomas A. Andruskevich, President and CEO, announced today that the company will institute price changes on many pieces from its world-renowned collection of Birks diamond jewellery as well as many prestigious watch and fine jewellery brands including Cartier, Van Cleef & Arpels, Tag Heuer, Baume & Mercier, Jaeger Le Coultre, Marco Bicego, H.Stern and Roberto Coin. This change reflects the current trade value of the Canadian dollar and reduces price disparity with the U.S. market. Our strong purchasing power has allowed us the opportunity to negotiate lower costs with our partners and suppliers, so that we may pass on savings to Canadian consumers in the spirit of fair exchange, stated Andruskevich. This measure reinforces our commitment to offering fair value to our clients, which, in turn, should make their shopping experience especially beneficial this holiday season.

Birks' price reductions are dependent on current foreign exchange rates and will remain in effect only as long as the marketplace permits.

Andruskevich further commented: While Birks was able to take this aggressive action now in favour of the consumer, market conditions may put upward pressure on prices in early 2008. Although we were able to take advantage of the strong Canadian dollar at this time, there are no guarantees that the Canadian dollar will remain this strong. In addition, Andruskevich pointed out: Rising prices of precious metals and certain precious gemstones will likely cause price increases in 2008 on many jewellery and timepiece products. Birks being able to reduce prices is an extraordinary occurrence and presents a unique opportunity for consumers to take advantage of a very limited window in a highly volatile marketplace.
