Item 3.03. Material Modification to Rights of Security Holders.

On May 27, 2011, Seacoast Banking Corporation of Florida (the Company) filed with the Florida Secretary of State Articles of Amendment (the Articles of Amendment) to the Company's Amended and Restated Articles of Incorporation adding a new Section 4.06 to Article IV thereto (the Protective Amendment) that is intended to help preserve certain tax benefits primarily associated with the Company's net operating losses. As described below under Item 5.07 of this Current Report on Form 8-K, the Protective Amendment was approved by the Company's shareholders at the Company's 2011 Annual Meeting of Shareholders held on May 26, 2011 (the Annual Meeting).

The following is a summary of the material terms of the Protective Amendment.

Prohibited Transfers. Subject to certain exceptions pertaining to existing 5% or greater shareholders, the Protective Amendment generally will restrict any direct or indirect transfer (such as transfers of our stock that result from the transfer of interests in other entities that own our stock) if the effect would be to:

increase the direct or indirect ownership of our stock by any person (or any public group of shareholders, as that term is defined under Section 382) from less than 5% to 5% or more of our common stock, $0.10 par value (Common Stock);

increase the percentage of our Common Stock owned directly or indirectly by a person (or public group) owning or deemed to own 5% or more of our Common Stock; or create a new public group.

Consequences of Prohibited Transfers. Upon adoption of the Protective Amendment, any direct or indirect transfer attempted in violation of the Protective Amendment would be void ab initio as of the date of the prohibited transfer as to the purported transferee (or, in the case of an indirect transfer, the ownership of the direct owner of our Common Stock would terminate effective simultaneously with the transfer), and the purported transferee (or in the case of any indirect transfer, the direct owner) would not be recognized as the owner of the shares owned in violation of the Protective Amendment for any purpose, including for purposes of voting and receiving dividends or other distributions in respect of such Common Stock, or in the case of options or warrants, receiving our Common Stock in respect of their exercise. Prohibited transfers are also subject to other restrictions, as set forth in the Articles of Amendment.

Modification and Waiver of Transfer Restrictions. The Company's Board of Directors will have the discretion to approve a transfer of our Common Stock or securities convertible into shares of our Common Stock that would otherwise violate the transfer restrictions if it determines that the transfer is in the Company's and our shareholders best interests. If the Board of Directors decides to permit such a transfer, that transfer or later transfers may result in an ownership change that could limit our use of our net operating losses (collectively, NOLs) for tax benefits.

The Board of Directors may establish, modify, amend or rescind by-laws, regulations and procedures for purposes of determining whether any transfer of Common Stock would jeopardize our ability to use our NOLs.

The Protective Amendment will expire on the earliest of:

the Board of Director's determination that the Protective Amendment is no longer necessary for the preservation of our NOLs because of the amendment or repeal of Section 382 or any successor statute;

the beginning of a taxable year to which the Board of Directors determines that none of our NOLs may be carried forward;

such date as the Board of Directors otherwise determines that the Protective Amendment is no longer necessary for the preservation of tax benefits associated with our NOLs; or three years from its adoption, unless reapproved by shareholders.

The Board of Directors may also accelerate the expiration date of the Protective Amendment in the event of a change in the law.

The foregoing description of the Protective Amendment does not purport to be complete and is subject to and qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Articles of Amendment, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 3.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated herein by reference.
