Magic Software Named To SD Times 100 For Innovative Leadership In The Software Development Industry
For The iBOLT Integration Suite

Irvine, California (May 17, 2004) Magic Software Enterprises (Nasdaq: MGIC), a leading provider of state-of-the-art business integration and development technology, announced today that it has been recognized by Software Development Times for innovative leadership, through its inclusion in the SD Times 100 (www.sdtimes.com/news/102/special1.htm). Magic Software was also named as one of the influencers and leaders in the category of modeling and design. The SD Times 100 recognizes the leaders and innovators of the software development industry.

"Each year, the editors of BZ Media's SD Times 100 look for companies and influencers which set the technical and market leadership for the software development industry," said Alan Zeichick, editor-in-chief of SD Times. "When choosing the 2004 SD Times 100, we carefully considered each organization's offerings and reputation with developers, as well as the attention and conversation we've heard around the company and its products and technologies, as a sign of leadership within the industry."

Zeichick noted that Magic Software has been named to the list because of its innovative new iBOLT Integration Suite that merges modeling, portals, and business process management.

"Magic Software is honored by this industry recognition from the editors at SD Times," said Menachem Hasfari, CEO of Magic Software Enterprises. "Inclusion in the SD Times 100 once again confirms iBOLT's growing position as a leading business integration framework, which enables companies to align IT and business goals to realize more rapid return on investments with reduced costs and optimized business processes."

About SD Times

Launched in February 2000, BZ Media's SD Times is the newspaper of record for the software-development industry. SD Times is published twice monthly in identical print and digital editions, and can also be read online at www.sdtimes.com.
