American Express Announces $500 Million Public Equity Offering of Common Stock

NEW YORK, June 1, 2009 -- American Express announced today that it has commenced a public offering of $500 million of its common stock for sale to the public. American Express will also grant the underwriters a 30-day option to purchase up to an additional $75 million of its common stock.

The company will use the capital raised through the equity offering for general corporate purposes which may include, subject to regulatory approval, the partial funding of a repurchase of $3.4 billion of preferred shares issued to the U.S. Treasury as part of the Capital Purchase Program (CPP).

The company announced last month that it was seeking permission to repay the government investment, after receiving a final report from the Federal Reserve that concluded there would be no capital need under the more adverse assumptions used by the Supervisory Capital Assessment Program. In accordance with guidance from the Federal Reserve, the company's public equity offering is a precondition to repurchasing the preferred shares issued to the Treasury.

We've always viewed the Capital Purchase Program as a temporary program and are pleased to be in position to repurchase the preferred shares issued to the Treasury," said Kenneth I. Chenault, chairman and chief executive officer, American Express.
