Item 2.06 Material Impairments

As part of its corporate goal to enhance its one company identity and to reflect more accurately its positioning in the marketplace, The Lubrizol Corporation (the Company) completed a corporate identity review in the fourth quarter of 2006. Senior management of the Company made a final determination on January 10, 2007 that the trade name

Noveon no longer would be used to describe the specialty chemical business segment of the Company and that its use would be discontinued except in connection with the consumer specialties product line. The Company acquired the rights to the Noveon trade name in June 2004 when it acquired Noveon International, Inc. At the time of the acquisition, an appraised value was attached to the Noveon trade name. The Company has calculated a pretax impairment charge of $41.2 million to reflect appropriately the related asset at its estimated fair value. This charge was recorded as of December 31, 2006 as the Company believed at that time it would more likely than not discontinue the use of the Noveon trade name, except in the limited context of its consumer specialties product line.

The Company does not expect that the discontinuation of the Noveon trade name will result in material future cash expenditures.
