The following letter to Electronic Clearing House, Inc. ("ECHO") employees, announcing the signing of a definitive agreement for the purchase by Intuit Inc. ("INTUIT") of ECHO, was issued by ECHO on December 14, 2006:

December 14th, 2006

ECHO Team Members:

Today we announced that we have entered into an agreement to be acquired by Intuit. We are very excited about the opportunity to join forces with Intuit, and what it means to the future of ECHO and to our employees.

With over $2.3 billion in annual revenue, Intuit has a very strong brand, innovative products, and focus on customer driven innovation. It is a leading provider of business, financial management, and tax solutions for small businesses, consumers and accountants. Some of you may in fact use some of Intuit's financial software products such as Quicken. For more information on Intuit, please feel free to access their web site at www.intuit.com.

Through its Innovative Merchant Solutions Division, Intuit provides payment processing services to 175,000 small and mid-sized businesses. Intuit is excited about the opportunity to leverage our technology platform and end-to-end payment solution to continue to bring new and innovative products to market. Combined with our people, technology, and customers, we believe that Intuit will be very well positioned to accelerate it's expansion into the rapidly growing and underserved payment processing market for small to mid-sized companies. Together, our goal is to continue to help customers increase revenue by maximizing their payment options and reducing their costs by working with one provider for all of their payment needs.

One of the reasons we are so excited about this combination is that ECHO and Intuit have very similar corporate cultures. Intuit has a long demonstrated commitment to employees and to maintaining a strong workplace culture. It has been named as one of Fortune Magazine's "100 Best Companies to Work For" the last five years in a row and has also won numerous employer awards. We believe ECHO and Intuit are going to make a great team.

Over the past 20 years, ECHO has built a solid foundation, represented by our superior reputation, outstanding products and services, sound technology, distinguished customers and, most importantly, great people. You should know that this transaction is in large part possible due to the contributions our employees have made over the years to build ECHO into the strong company it is today. I would like to thank each one of you for your dedication, professionalism and commitment to our business.

We expect this transaction will close in the first quarter of calendar year 2007 and we will begin integrating the two companies at that time. Until the deal closes, we should approach our work with a "business as usual" attitude. It's important for all of us to remain focused on serving our customers.

Please feel free to contact your manager with any questions you may have. We may not have all the answers today, but we will periodically update you on our progress and provide you with answers as soon as we can.

Sincerely,

/s/ Chuck Harris
