Item 2.05. Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities.

On June 1, 2012, Complete Genomics, Inc. (the “Company”) committed to a plan to reduce its cash consumption and overall cost structure.

The Company plans to focus on development of clinical applications for its whole human genome sequencing service, while continuing to provide high-quality genomes to research customers. The Company will maintain its current sequencing capacity, but expects to delay capacity expansion until demand for clinical-grade genomes supports expansion. The delay in expanding capacity is resulting in deferred capital expenditures and job cuts, primarily in field and factory headcount.

As a result of the restructuring plan, approximately 55 employee positions in Mountain View, California and other U.S. locations will be eliminated. This employee reduction is expected to be substantially completed during the Company’s second fiscal quarter of 2012.

Restructuring and related costs expected to be incurred in connection with this plan are currently estimated to be approximately $1.5 million, most of which will be cash expenditures. These costs are comprised of one-time termination benefits for employees whose positions are being eliminated, and are expected to be recorded in the second quarter.

On June 5, 2012, the Company issued a press release announcing this restructuring plan. A copy of the press release is attached as Exhibit 99.1.

Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

As part of the plan described under Item 2.05 above, the employment of Bruce K. Martin, the Company’s Senior Vice President, Product Development, will terminate effective June 28, 2012.

Item 8.01 Other Events

In the same press release issued on June 5, 2012 and attached as Exhibit 99.1, the Company announced that it has retained Jefferies & Company, Inc., to review strategic alternatives on behalf of the Company and its stockholders.
